

CHINESE LAUNDRY BLUES

Key of F Major

CHINESE LAUNDRY BLUES

Words and Music by George Formby

C7 F Db7 F C7 F
Now Mr. Wu was a laundry man in a shop with an old green door
C7 F G7 C7
He'd iron all day your linen away, he really makes me sore
Gm C7 Gm C7 F Bbm6 F
He's lost his heart to a Chinese girl and his laundry's all gone wrong
G7
All day he'll flirt and scorch your shirt
C7
That's why I'm singing this song

INTRO

C7 F D7 G7
*Oh Mr. Wu, what can I do, I'm feeling kind of limehouse
Db7 C7 F ---- F7

Chinese laundry blues

Bb Bbm F ----- D7
This funny feeling, keeps round me stealing
G7 C ---- Am ---- C7
Oh won't you throw your sweetheart over do
F F7

My vest's so short that it won't fit my little brother

Bb Db7

And my new sunday shirt has got a perforated rudder

F A7 D7 G7

Mr. Wu what shall I do, I've feeling kind of limehouse

Db7 C7 F

Chinese laundry blues

CHINESE LAUNDRY BLUES

Words and Music by George Formby

C7

F

F7

Now Mr. Wu, he's got a naughty eye that flickers

Bb

You ought to see him wobble

Db7

When he's ironing ladies ---- blouses

F

A7

D7

G7

Mr. Wu what shall I do, I've feeling kind of limehouse

Db7

C7

F

Chinese laundry blues

C7

F

F7

Now Mr. Wu he's got a laundry kind of tricky

Bb

He'll starch my shirt and collars

Db7

But he'll never touch my ---- waistcoat

F

A7

D7

G7

Mr. Wu what shall I do, I'm feeling kind of limehouse

Db7

C7

F

Chinese laundry blues

 UKE SOLO